Introduction

About the Summit

The National Education Summit of Zimbabwe is a multi-stakeholder platform that convenes more than 2000 (two thousand) key actors in the education ecosystem to discuss critical issues shaping the future of education.

The summit provides opportunities for policy dialogue, engagement between the private sector and education institutions, showcasing innovation in education, and building partnerships that support education development.

The National Education Summit of Zimbabwe (NESZ) brings together leaders from government, education institutions, the private sector, development partners, and civil society to engage in meaningful dialogue on the future of education in Zimbabwe.

The summit builds upon the success of three (2023-2025) previous editions of the National Education Conference and Expo (NECE) and expands it into a national platform for shaping education policy, advancing innovation, and building partnerships that will drive transformation in Zimbabwe's education system.

Who Attends

Participants include government officials, school heads and administrators, education secretaries, responsible authorities, SDCs, university leaders, vocational training institutions, development partners, NGOs, and private sector organisations.

Exhibition Opportunities

The summit will feature an Education Innovation Expo showcasing products and services that support education including technology solutions, learning resources, financial services, infrastructure solutions, and teacher development programmes.

Sponsorship Opportunities

Sponsorship packages are designed to provide partners with high visibility and engagement opportunities with Zimbabwe's education sector.
